

LYRASIS Leaders Forum Baltimore
About Our Leaders

Wanda Brown is the Director of Library Services for the C. G. O'Kelly Library, Winston-Salem University. Prior to her appointment, she served as the Associate Dean of Wake Forest University's Z. Smith Reynolds Library. A leader in her profession, Brown has served as President of the North Carolina Library Association and President of the Black Caucus of the American Library Association. She is the 2015 recipient of the DEMCO/Black Caucus Award for Excellence in Librarianship and the 2013 University of North Carolina – Greensboro School of Education, Outstanding Alumni Achievement Award. She serves on the LYRASIS Board of Directors. Winston-Salem University is a Leaders Circle Member. Email: brownwa@wssu.edu

Christopher Case is the Content Management Librarian at Johns Hopkins University. Johns Hopkins is a LYRASIS Member and our host for today's Forum. Email: ccase3@gmail.com

Scott Dennis is the Librarian for Philosophy, General Reference, and Core Electronic Resources at the Hatcher Graduate Research Library, University of Michigan. He serves as chair of the Core Electronic Resources Team (or Core E-Team), and the General Reference & Popular Press E-Team, two of eight e-teams responsible for selection and management of library electronic resources. He has a strong interest in the technical aspects of public access to materials, and also serve as chair of the University Library's Public Access Resources Committee (PARC) that advises on interface design and development. University of Michigan is a Leaders Circle Member. Email: sdenn@umich.edu

Jennifer Diffin is the Head, Library Technology Services Section at the National Library of Medicine (NLM) where she oversees management of the ILS, digital repository, discovery, ERMS, OpenURL resolver, and other homegrown systems as well as technical support for the Technical Services Division. She has been at NLM for 2 ½ years. Her previous experience includes similar management positions at academic institutions for 16 years. She holds an MS in Library Science from Simmons College. National Library of Medicine is a LYRASIS Leaders Circle Member. Email: diffinj@nih.gov

Derick Dreher is the first John C. Haas Director. A native Philadelphian, he joined the staff of the Rosenbach in 1997 and has been Director since 1998. Dr. Dreher received a B.A. from Princeton University and a Ph.D. from Yale University, both in art history. He is also a graduate of the Getty Museum Leadership Institute. He serves the community as a member of several boards, and is Chairman of the Philadelphia Area Consortium of Special Collections Libraries (PACSCL). He is a Leaders Circle Member and LYRASIS Board Member. He is also speaking today with John Herbert. Email: ddreher@rosenbach.org

Brad Eden is Dean of Library Services at Valparaiso University. Bradford Lee Eden is Dean of Library Services at Valparaiso University. Previous positions include Associate University Librarian for Technical Services and Scholarly Communication at the University of California, Santa Barbara; Head, Web and Digitization Services, and Head, Bibliographic and Metadata Services for the University of Nevada, Las Vegas Libraries. He is editor of Digital Library Perspectives and the Journal of Tolkien Research, an open-access peer-reviewed journal. He is on the editorial boards of Library Hi Tech, Advances in Library Administration and Organization, and The Journal of Film Music. Valparaiso is a Leaders Circle member.

Email: brad.eden@valpo.edu

George Fowler is University Librarian at Old Dominion University Library. He has been working for Old Dominion since 2011, holding positions as associate university librarian for information resources and technology and interim librarian. He previously worked for the University of Arkansas as the head of library systems development and Temple University as systems librarian. He has served in Iraq (thank you for your service!). Old Dominion is a Leaders Circle member.

Email: gfowler@odu.edu

Ryan Johnson is Head of Collections, Research and Instruction at Georgetown University. Before Georgetown, Johnson was at the University of Mississippi, where he served as the Head of Information Services for the past 10 years. Prior to his work at Mississippi, Johnson was Social Science Reference and Electronic Resources Librarian and later Head of Humanities/Social Sciences Public Services at Washington State University and Information Services Librarian at Georgia Southern University. Georgetown is a LYRASIS Member.

Email: rj425@georgetown.edu

Alix Keener is the Digital Scholarship Librarian at University of Michigan. She focuses on advancing and facilitating library-wide engagement with digital scholarship, with a particular focus on new spaces as well as paradigms for teaching, learning, and research. She provides research support for students and faculty in all disciplines who are engaged with or curious about digital scholarship (including digital humanities). Additionally, she serves as the subject selector for Science Fiction and Fantasy. University of Michigan is a Leaders Circle Member.

Email: alixkee@umich.edu

Joe Lucia is the Dean of Libraries at Temple University. At Temple, he oversees all of Temple's nine libraries — including those at Temple University Japan and Temple University Rome — as well as Temple University Press. Before Temple, he was the university librarian and director of Falvey Memorial Library at Villanova. There he spearheaded a number of initiatives that earned national attention, including the establishment of a campus-wide community reading program, the development of open source discovery software; the creation of a substantial digital library (hosted on locally built open source digital library software); the establishment of open access publishing initiatives featuring university-sponsored journals supported by library development teams; the creation of a multi-disciplinary Learning Commons. He is a LYRASIS Board of Trustee, Leaders Circle Member and presenting today.

Email: Joe.Lucia@temple.edu

Janet Ohles is the Director of Reeves Library at Moravian College. She has 20+ years of experience in program planning, implementation, and evaluation; and training, predominantly in medical library settings, including the National Library of Medicine and National Centers for Biotechnology Information. Moravian College is a LYRASIS member.

Email: ohlesj@moravian.edu

Barbara Preece is the Director of Loyola Notre Dame Library. Preece served previously as Dean of the Library, California State University San Marcos; Executive Director of the Boston Library Consortium, Inc.; Interim Associate Dean of Technical and Automated Services at Southern Illinois University Carbondale; and Head of Technical and Automated Services at the Shawnee Library System in Illinois. She received her M.A. in Library Science from the University of Minnesota and her bachelor's degree in Sociology from the University of New Hampshire. Loyola Notre Dame Library is a LYRASIS Member.

Email: bpreece@loyola.edu

Sophie Rondeau is Technical Services Librarian at Virginia Wesleyan College. Her work involves managing all aspects of VWC Digital Collections, cataloging print and electronic resources, acquisitions, configuring the WorldCat Discovery user interface, and several other roles. She holds an M.Mus from the University of Manitoba and an MLIS from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Virginia Wesleyan College is a Leaders Circle Member.
Email: wrondeau@vwc.edu

Robin Ruggaber is the Chief Technical Officer for the University of Virginia Library. As a founding member of the Fedora, Blacklight, Hydra and Academic Preservation Trust communities, UVa has a long standing commitment to evolving digital stewardship technologies and practices. Robin serves in a strategic or technical advisory capacity in each of these communities and is responsible for the strategic, architectural and operational aspects of technology for the UVa Library. Robin's career spans across industry, federal and state agencies with deepest expertise in directing the design and development of strategies and systems to solve complex problems and meet organization objectives. Robin is drawn to work in digital stewardship due to the complex challenges facing the community and the opportunity to protect availability and access to intellectual and cultural knowledge. University of Virginia is a Leaders Circle member.
Email: rsl6m@eservices.virginia.edu

Monika Rhue is the Director of Library Services at Johnson C. Smith University. She oversees the library budget, library staff, strategic planning, library accreditation, programming, and grant writing activities. Monika is instrumental in transforming the library into a customer service, technology driven, and programming environment. She currently serves on the Quality Enhancement Plan (QEP) committee, and helps to preserve the artifacts for the Robert Brown Collection at JCSU. She is the author of Organizing and Preserving Family and Religious Records: A Step-by-Step Guide, and Dress the African Way: An Activity Book for the Family and contributing writer to ACRL publication, Creating Leaders: An Examination of Academic and Research Library Leadership Institutes. Johnson C. Smith is a Leaders Circle Member.
Email: mrhue@jcsu.edu

Cynthia Snell is the Library Director at Columbia International University. She has over 15 years of experience within the academic environment. Her specialized expertise includes electronic resource management, usability studies, systems administration (ILS & LMS), and assessment. She has presented at several national conferences: Educause, CCUMC, and Endeavor. She has master degrees in the areas of: instructional technology, library science, counseling, and business administration. Columbia International University is a Leaders Circle Member.
Email: Cynthia.Snell@ciu.edu

Dr. Anthony Snell is the President and CEO of Trident Consulting, also served our country with the U.S. Navy being assigned onboard Nuclear Powered Submarines; he has an honorable discharge and is a disabled veteran. Anthony started Trident with the sole intent and expertise in educational consulting that assists organizations with providing solutions to challenges by application discovery, training, and supporting services. Anthony holds a Ph.D. in Information Technology. He has been providing solutions to global companies like Warner Brothers, Norton, and Xerox for more than 30 years. Now, he offers these same types of solutions to educational organizations with a goal of making technology solutions more affordable.

Email: asnell@tridentconsultingsc.com

Megan Sniffin-Marinoff is the University Archivist at Harvard University. She is an experienced senior manager appointed to progressively responsible positions. Steered development and outreach for archives and special collections of national and international significance, used by a wide range of patrons, and representing a range of subjects, formats, and time periods. Before Harvard, Megan was the Co-Director of the Open Collections Program at Harvard.

Email: megan_sniffin-marinoff@harvard.edu

Joyce Tenney is the Associate Director, UMBC - University of Maryland, Baltimore County. There she has had a long and very productive career as a member of the Library staff. She began as a student assistant in 1975 and was appointed Serials Librarian in 1983. Since 1983, Joyce has led the Serials Department through many changes and challenges, most notably the transition from print to online formats. She has supervised several other units in the Library on a temporary basis since that time. Currently, Serials, Circulation and Library Media Departments report to her as Associate Director. Ms. Tenney has also been very active on the Council of University System Faculty of USM, the USMAI and on the Maryland Digital Library. University of Maryland, Baltimore County is a LYRASIS Member.

Email: tenney@umbc.edu

Dr. Scott Walter is University Librarian at DePaul University and an adjunct member of the faculty of DePaul's School of Public Service and of the San Jose State University School of Library & Information Science. Dr. Walter has served on the faculty of Washington State University, the University of Kansas, and the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, where he held the rank of Professor of Library Administration and Library & Information Science. Dr. Walter has served in leadership positions in the Association of College & Research Libraries and the American Educational Research Association, and was recognized in 2012 with the ACRL "Distinguished Education and Behavioral Sciences Librarian" Award. Dr. Walter is currently serving as a member of the several advisory boards for the Dominican University Graduate School of Library & Information Science, the San Jose State University School of Library and Information Science and serves on the Board of Directors of the Chicago Collections Consortium (CCC), the Catholic Research Resources Alliance (CRRA), and the Consortium of Academic and Research Libraries in Illinois (CARLI).

Email: swalte11@depaul.edu

Mary Wassum is the Head of the Access Services Unit at the National Library of Medicine (NLM). She oversees interlibrary loan and reading room services with a focus on customer-oriented satisfaction. She is involved in the Library's ILS Team, ILL Management System Team, QA for digitization projects, and the ERMS – particularly as it relates to e-resource licensing codes. Mary has been at NLM for five years, previously working at the Smithsonian and as a corporate librarian.

Email: mary.wassum@nih.gov

Justin Wing is the Manager of Library Computing Operations at the University of Delaware. Before joining the University, he spent 20 years with E.I. DuPont de Nemours working in a variety of information technology management and consulting roles. Mr. Wing holds an MBA from the University of Delaware. Additionally, Mr. Wing is a Project Management Institute certified project management professional (PMP) and an ISC2 certified information systems security professional (CISSP). University of Delaware is a Leaders Circle Member.

Email: wingman@udel.edu